STOUT—This village of 200 isolated by water and food and drinking water reported low.

BATAVIA—River front endangered.

Developments in East:
Connecticut river floods Springfield, Mass., Hartford, Conn., and scores of smaller places on rampage to Long Island Sound. Springfield and Hartford without power.

Pittsburgh drying, but faces serious drinking water shortage.

Susquehanna begins to recede, leaving huge destruction in southern New York and central Pennsylvania.

Epidemics in many flooded cities; health precautions rushed.

MARIETTA, March 20.—(UP)—The Ohio river, a turbulent yellow torrent laden with uprooted trees, the bodies of farm animals, the debris of wrecked cities and towns and countryside, tore through the Marietta business district today and threatened to spread over the entire city.

Along its valley from its source at Pittsburgh it had left a frightful toll of death and destruction. Ninety-five miles to the northeast, Wheeling, W. Va., and its surrounding industrial districts still were under water and at least 22 were dead. Further on, the river had wrecked a half dozen river towns, including Steubenville, O., and Wellsville, W. Va. Pittsburgh was coming slowly out of the destruction caused by its tributaries, the Allegheny and the Monongahela, which in their torrential descent from the mountains had taken 43 lives.

Other Areas to Suffer

This death toll—65—for the Ohio and its tributaries, was believed to be only a beginning. Ahead of its raging flood crest was one of the most populous and wealthy river valleys in the world—scores of cities and towns and rich farming and industrial districts.

BORAH IN ATTACK ON 'OLD GUARD' IN HIS OHIO SPEECH

YOUNGSTOWN, March 20.—(UP)—Senator William E. Borah carried his war on conservative Republican bosses and his campaign for the presidency into his enemy's country today.

Before 3,000 supporters last night in Stambaugh stadium, formally launching his midwestern campaign for G. O. P. convention votes, he outlined a national policy calculated in every way to please voters of the state that traditionally divides the industrial east and agricultural west.

He declared himself against inflation and also deflation, for an "adequate" old age pension and for economy in relief administration of monopoly but not for interference with "independent" business men, and for "a philosophy of plenty." The last point was a dig at the AAA.

Added to the cost in human life, was a property damage that already approximated $50,000,000—$20,000,000 in Pittsburgh and $10,000,000 in the Wheeling district alone—and intense and widespread suffering. An estimated 50,000 persons had been made homeless and many were suffering from exposure and other privations.

The Ohio has covered almost the entire Marietta business section to a depth of nine feet and is rising relentlessly. The first floors of almost all buildings were under water entirely and some second floors had been invaded. Because there had been ample warning, only a comparative few persons had been marooned and rowboats poked around looking for them.

The same relentless torrents that engulfed Wheeling yesterday morning took possession of Marietta today. The crest passed 46 feet at 3 a. m. The water was expected to reach 50 feet at 3 p. m. (Continued on Page Two)

Several Persons Announce Readiness to Contribute to Aid Sufferers

A special meeting of the executive committee of the Red Cross was called Friday afternoon by Carl C. Leist, county chairman, to make immediate plans to receive contributions for the flood stricken areas.

Pickaway-co quota in the Red Cross drive has been fixed at $650 by a telegram received Thursday.

COMMODITIES TRANSFERRED

There will be no surplus commodity distribution in this city Saturday, Delos Marcy, supervisor of the county centralized relief agency announced today. He has been notified by district officials that all supplies are being rushed to the river area for distribution among sufferers.

by Mr. Leist from Cary T. Grayson, Washington, D. C., head of the national organization.

Telegram Received

The telegram received by Mr. Leist follows:

"Reports received indicate 38,000 families in 11 states have been driven from their homes in flooded areas. This number is expected to increase. These people are all looking to the Red Cross for immediate relief including shelter, food, clothing and medical care. Minimum relief funds of $3,000,000 are necessary to provide care for flood victims for an indefinite period until they can return to their homes.

"Please take immediate action, raise your chapter quota of $650 in behalf of these disaster stricken families. I feel confident the people of your community will wish to give promptly and generously. Remittances should be forwarded to headquarters as promptly as possible and report progress at least twice a week."

Mr. Leist announced he had received several calls from persons who desired to contribute toward aiding the flood victims. Contributions will be received at his office.

MAYOR SEEKS BOATS FOR RIVER DISTRICTS

Mayor W. J. Graham issued an emergency call at noon Friday for rowboats to be sent to the river area.

Any local person owning a rowboat that is available for service is asked to notify the police department or the mayor.

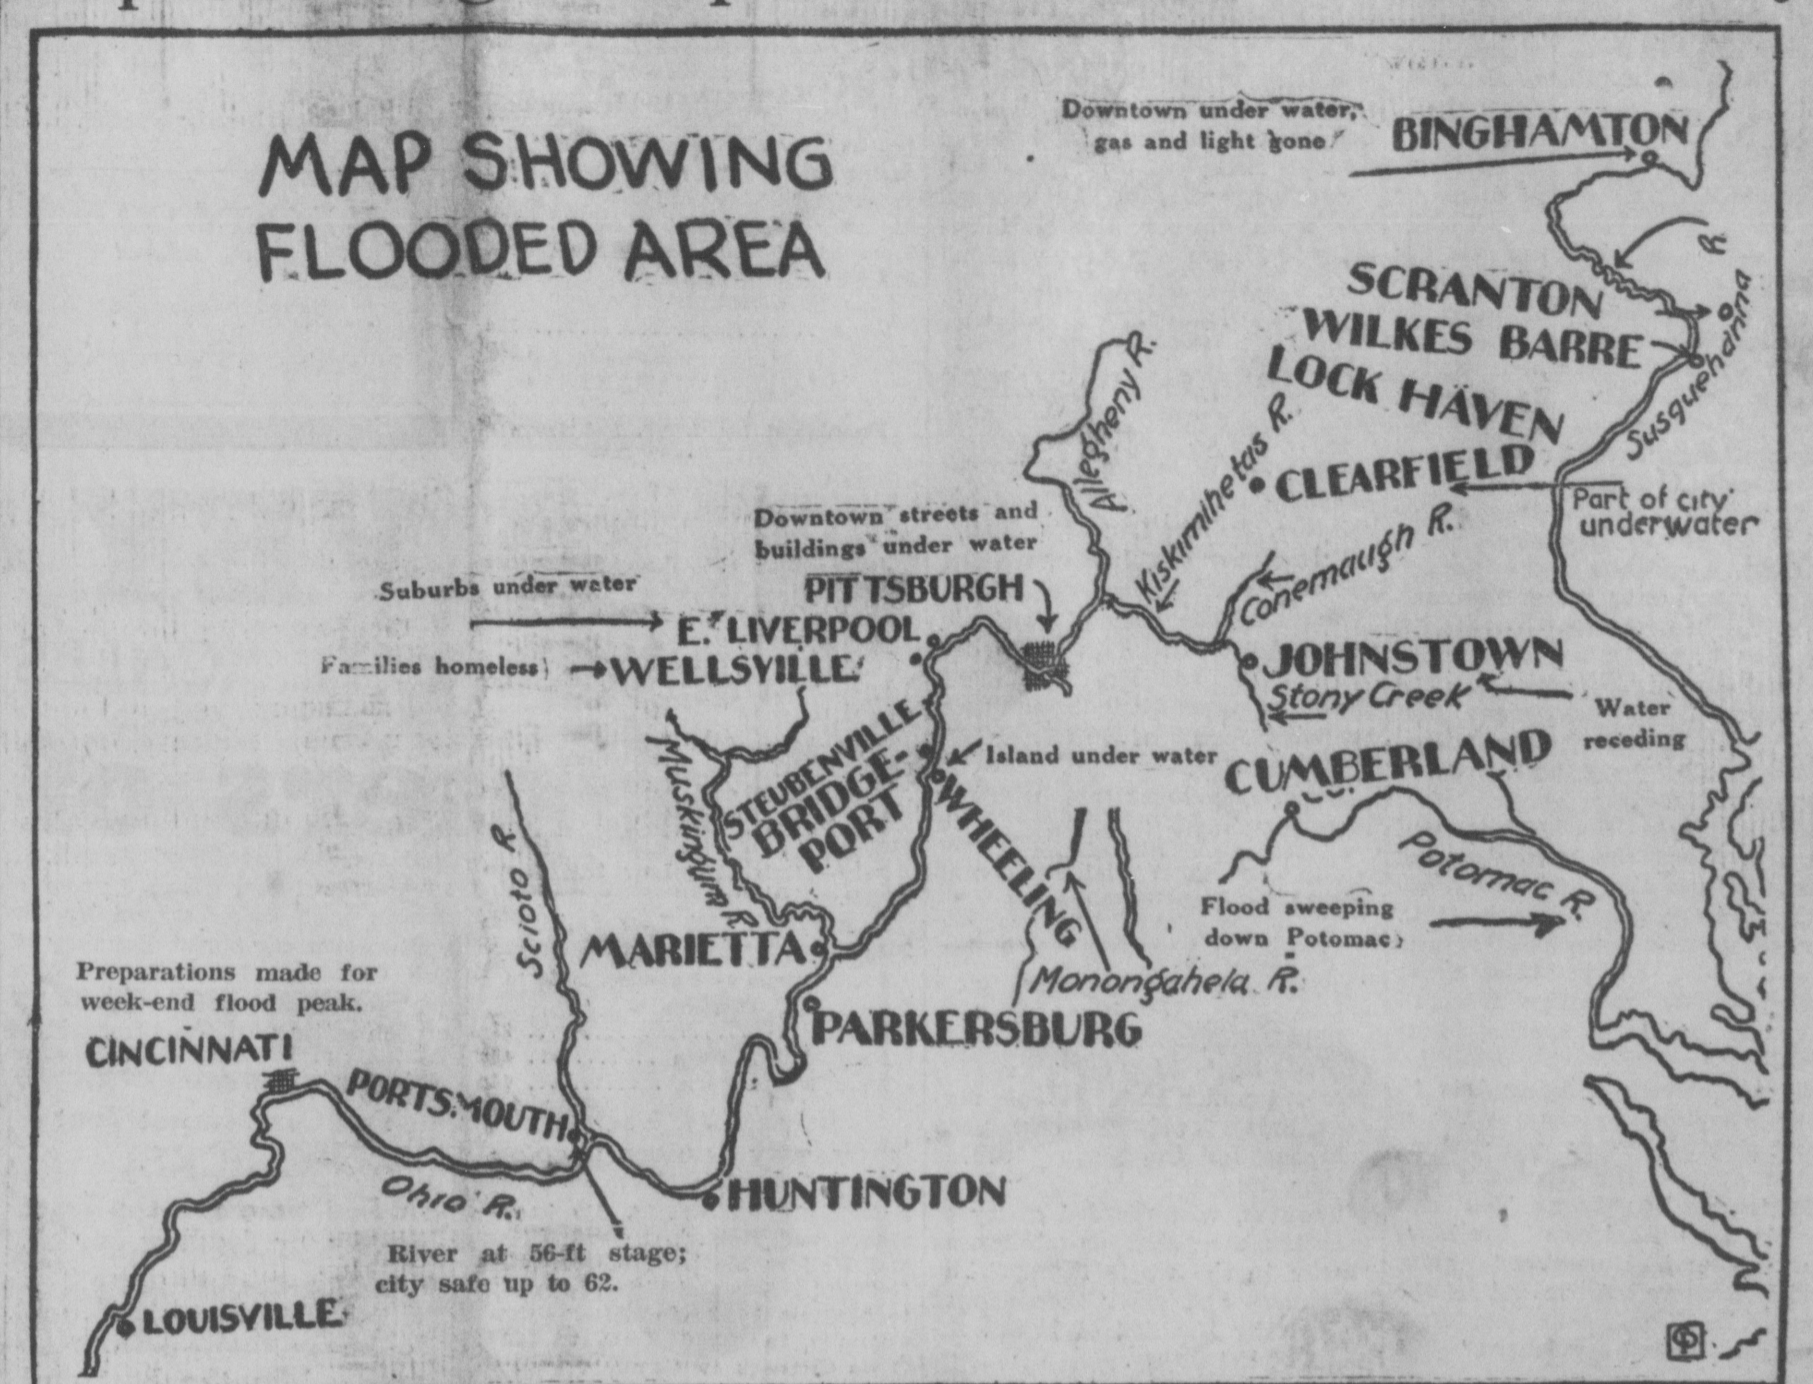

The boats will be registered and arrangements will be made to have trucks from Columbus carry them to the flood area if they are needed.

Mayor Graham was notified by the Columbus police department that all available rowboats in that district were being gathered together and if any local persons had boats to offer they would be transported with those from the capital city.

35 Children Enjoy Tour Through Wallace Bakery

Corwin-St Pupils Told How Modern Plant Operates; 14,250 Pounds of Flour Used Weekly, They Learn

Experience is the best teacher, the school books say, and 35 Corwin-st third-grade pupils who visited the Wallace Bakery, Thursday afternoon to see what makes a loaf of bread, unanimously decided they like experience, especially when it is accompanied with a treat of cakes.

The youngsters were all eyes, and built up fine appetites as they paraded past trays of cream puffs, cookies and pies, and watched the operation of the modern machinery in Circleville's leading bakery.

Each operation in the manufacture of a loaf of bread was carefully explained by Mr. Wallace and his assistants. The visitors were shown how the flour is sifted and mixed, preparation of the "sponge," how the dough is cut and rolled into loaf size, the oven, and the slicing and wrapping machinery.

The local bakery uses approximately 14,250 pounds of flour weekly for the manufacture of 23,000 pounds of bread, the children were told.

After the trip the children were treated to a tray of cakes by Mr. Wallace. The pupils are those of Miss Lucile Crist. They visited the local bakery in connection with their school work.

For the last three years Miss Crist has taken her pupils for a trip through the establishment.

Cities in Valley Warned Against Disease Dangers

pected to rise slowly until tomorrow and then recede as the flood crest moved on down the valley to create new devastation.

Families in Schools
Mayor Morton J. Harper took stern measures to prevent looting or public panic. The sale or consumption of intoxicants was prohibited. In the sections of the city yet dry, the refugees were huddled in schools and public buildings. Eighty families were quartered in the schools alone.

Part of the residential section of Parkersburg, W. Va., 12 miles below here, was under water and the residents had been taken out. Point Pleasant, W. V., also was flooded.

Down the river towns and cities, knowing their turns are to come, made efficient preparations. Huntington, W. V., the first sizeable community, is 100 miles to the southwest. Fifty miles northwest of Huntington is Portsmouth, O., and 95 miles in a general westerly direction is Cincinnati.

70 Blocks Covered
Marietta estimated that its flood damage might reach $1,500,000. Seventy blocks of the city were under from four to 10 feet of water.

At Huntington, it was estimated the damage would be no greater than $100,000. One thousand families left their homes as the water began to spill into the western edge of the city. A crest of 57 feet was expected at Huntington by Sunday. Residents were warned to lay in food enough to last at least 10 days.

Huntington merchants did a big business in candles and oil lamps when it was feared that the city's electric service might be impaired. Portsmouth, O., watched anxiously as the river rose slowly toward a crest of 55 to 60 feet. Portsmouth's great flood wall will repel the river up to 61 feet. After that, the city faces devastation.

Between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, WPA workers in smaller cities and towns spent the night reinforcing flood bulwarks. The height of the flood was not expected to strike this region for 24 to 48 hours.

The town of Gallipolis, which has been cut off from vehicular traffic, reported enough food to last through the emergency.

Norfolk & Western railroad service was continuing without delay Friday despite the high water in the river district.

Several Pennsylvania passenger trains were routed over the N. & W. tracks Thursday and more were expected Friday. The Chesapeake & Ohio route also carried trains other than its own.

WPA WORKERS ASSIGNED TO VARIOUS CITY JOBS

A crew of WPA workers were assigned to a sanitary sewer extension project on S. Pickaway-st., Thursday, to dig trenches and prepare for installation of cast iron pipes under the railroad property. Installation of the pipes will be handled by railroad employees.

The sanitary sewer will be run from Edison-ave, north, to connect with a sewer near the intersection of Pickaway and Ohio-sts.

Workers were busy on the Court-st project Thursday afternoon cleaning up bricks and clearing the street to resume paving Friday.

Twenty men were assigned to the Canal development to make repairs on the project caused by the recent flood waters.

POSES AS MAN 20 YEARS

VOICE ... of the... PEOPLE

To the Editor,
Circleville Herald.

Dear Sir:

I have been asked by the Board of Directors of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children to bring to your attention and to the attention of the public the campaign which is now being carried on for the sale of Crippled Children's Seals. These seals, similar in purpose to the Christmas Seals which are sold for the benefit of victims of tuberculosis, are adapted from a design used in a cartoon by the well-known cartoonist Donahoe of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The seal depicts a crippled boy with his crutch sitting on the threshold of the door of opportunity. The Crippled Children's Seal Sale affords a means of financing the state-wide work of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children; gives opportunity for Ohio to share in the maintenance of the International Society for Crippled Children; and gives the local community funds for supplementary services to Crippled Children.

The public should be acquainted with the fine work which has been done by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and in Circleville by the Ohio Society in co-operation with the Rotary Club. This public service organization aims to help the Crippled Children of every county in the state by securing funds for correctional surgery and treatments, by maintaining clinics for diagnosis and care, by providing school authorities with proper educational instruments for the vocational training of children handicapped by physical disabilities, by cooperating with the state department and the administration of the Federal Social Security Program as it applies to the Crippled Children in Ohio.

The Crippled Children's Seals will be on sale only during the Easter season, from the present to April 15. They will be obtainable in Circleville stores and from solicitors.

The cooperation of The Herald in this most worthwhile public enterprise will inform the people of this city and county on the nature and scope of the work being done by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children—a work with which every public-spirited citizen will want to be identified.

Respectively yours

MILITIA GUARDS RIVER CITY AS WATER RECEDES

Wheeling Reports Fall; Resident of Island Face Disheartening Task

WHEELING, W. Va., March 20
(UP)—Raging, churning Ohio river floods waters, laden with debris and filth, receded slowly today after spreading death, destruction and desolation through this industrial center of 250,000 persons.

The water level on inundated downtown business buildings showed a drop of three feet since the crest of 55.6 feet was reached last night.

At least 22 persons lost their lives in this area, 20,000 were left homeless and relief crews estimated that property damage would run into millions.

Troopers Patrol
Virtual martial law existed in company of 200 reserve officers and 40 state troopers patrolled the mud-covered streets, guarding against looting. Only one robbery had been reported, that at a filling station.

Health officers and nurses fought desperately to prevent germs and disease, left in the wake of the torrent, from spreading.
Anti-typhoid serum was administered to hundreds.

The 20,000 homeless faced a morale-breaking task in rehabilitating their residences. Physicians warned that they will be exposed to pneumonia and typhoid unless strict precautions are taken.

Mud and slime six feet deep was deposited in residences on Wheeling island by the river. Its 10,000 inhabitants, disheartened and bedraggled, faced an almost insurmountable task. They were warned to be careful of walls and roofs, weakened by the 24-hour strain of rushing waters, collapsing and buckling.

A rousing meeting of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held last evening is now history.

During the half hour social session, C. W. Helvering and his committee of seven members served chili soup, weiner sandwiches, pickles and coffee.

President Luther Bower then introduced E. Sensenbrenner as master of ceremonies. The entire program was put on by the members over fifty years of age, opening with the singing of "Nellie Gray," with Carl F. Seitz at the piano.

J. D. Hummel next on the program, recited "Society Cadaver's Cat."

Charles L. Mack gave an informative paper on "The Lenten Season" after which R. D. Good gave a poem entitled "Are You an Active Member?"

A German quintet composed of Dr. G. J. Troutman, E. Sensenbrenner, Edward H. Blum, J. H.
Helwagen and Frank H. Palm then again at the piano.

Next Dr. Troutman was introduced and gave an interesting talk on St. Petersburg, Fla., at which place he spent two months of the last winter.

E. E. Wolf read "Personal In-

all Tales

WILLIAM H. NILES
had a real experience
during the last winter
while hunting coon.

A dog barked up a large tree that stood about five miles from the nearest stream. On climbing the tree, Mr. Niles discovered the den in a large limb.
Telling his own story: "I broke off a branch and probed around in the hole and I finally withdrew a coon hair. I obtained an ax and saw and cut down the tree. When I cut into the den I discovered an 8-pound catfish. No doubt the fish took to the timber during the recent winter."

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN

Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.

Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cat-harts, it did not lose its effect.

Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.

ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and tablets.
Serve as a cereal—
or use in cooking.
Sold by all grocers.
Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

fluence" from The Golden Gems of Life.

Wayne Hoover recited and acted out as he originally did the first recitation that he delivered when he attended public school at the tender age of five years; responding to an encore by giving another reading of later school days, entitled "How We Didn't Lick the Teacher."

E. Sensenbrenner then came on with the "Bulletin" basing his main theme on the scriptural passage used by Dr. Troutman in his last Sunday evening's sermon: "If he ask you to go one mile, go with him twain." The commendation that he gave the "Two Mile Brotherhood Members" and the scoring he meted out to the "One Mile" members, should be an incentive to the latter to get busy and do greater things in the future.

The program was brought to a fitting close by singing "In the Gloaming."

This meeting ended the attendance contest of the last three months, with Rev. G. L. Trout-man's team winning over Hum-mel's team by seven points, in consequence of which both the lunch and program for the next meeting

What a life! The more civilized

you spend cleaning up the mess you've made.

OPEN LETTERS

TO BUSINESS MEN

CITIZENS: The Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday evening is sponsoring a meeting that should prove of interest to all of you. The feature will be an address by the City Manager of Westerville, who has had years of experience in his line. The Circuiter is not going on record for or against the city manager plan of government, but the speaker should have much information of value to every Circleville merchant, and, in fact, for every Circleville resident. The charter plan of government has its advantages and its faults, undoubtedly, and it behooves every one to know as much as possible about the system. Directors of the Chamber of Commerce are supplied with tickets, and you should obtain at least one. Remember, the meeting is Tuesday at 6:30 at the American Hotel Coffee shop.

CIRCUITER

POLICE OFFICERS

GENTLEMEN: It seems unfair to tag autos parked in alleys, especially those from out-of-town, when no signs are placed to warn drivers this practice is prohibited. Many motorists are unfamiliar with the city ordinance, and with the downtown district torn up for the Court-st repaving program, they naturally seek parking space in the alleys. Alleys in the restricted district should be posted with proper signs, and then your campaign would seem more reasonable. I know you advocate the purchase of signs and councilmen should back up your suggestion.

TO OLD MAN RIVER

JUST ROLLING ALONG: You can easily see what some of your bigger cousins are doing in Pennsylvania and in a number of other states. I wonder when you will make up your mind to swarm all over the area through which you flow. Why do you not take your pen in hand and write residents of your valley that they had better take some precautions by trying to regulate the territory you cover? You should be dredged, your channel should be straightened, and several other things should be done to harness you. I hope residents of the Scioto valley will not wait until some major disaster strikes them before they decide to take action.

CIRCUITER

TO COUNCILMEN

OFFICIALS: As one of your members reported Wednesday evening, the cottage maintained by the city on its W. Franklin-st lot is a disgrace, and should be remodeled immediately, or dismantled entirely. A visit to this building would enlighten any interested person. Much good work is done by the district nurse, and it seems to me a fit place should be provided as her headquarters. It is time something is done toward making the cottage something more than the hovel it now is.

CIRCUITER

COURT-ST PROJECT OFFICIALS

DEAR FOLK: A few pigs for the soup you have mixed up at Court and Watts with a fence around them would be a splendid warning to autoists, and would aid in preventing a possible serious accident. Downtown merchants fought against having the old switch tracks removed until they were assured paving would immediately follow, but their appeals meant little. Now you have a mud puddle for cars to churn through. Pedestrians need boots to cross the intersection. Some cinders in the puddle would be a help, and I suggest you take some steps to correct the "mess" you have created.

CIRCUITER

ATHLETIC CLUB

MEMBERS: Your splendid record of many and varied activities during the last year under the present corps of officers is one of which to be proud. Your club is now one of the leading organizations in the city, and I wish for you, with your new corps of officers, recently elected, another year, even more successful than the last.

CIRCUITER

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT KRIMMEL

CITIZENS: Congratulations for the recent observance of your Golden Wedding anniversary. Having been residents of the county for your fifty years of married life, you have many friends, who, I know, wish you more happy years together.

CIRCUITER

TO PICKAWAY COUNTIANS

FOLK: Another primary election is rapidly nearing. Names of nearly three dozen county candidates will be submitted to you for consideration. I earnestly urge you to study the list prior to the election, pick out individuals you believe will best serve you and your neighbors, and cast your ballots for them. The number of persons seeking office is large, and there are many capable candidates listed. It is your duty to yourself and to your community to elect trustworthy men and women to administer our positions of trust.

CIRCUITER

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Someone having referred in his hearing to the "six rulers of the Republican party," but without naming them, a reader inquires, "Who are the six, and how effective will their leadership be at the G. O. P. convention in June?"

It is easy enough to mention three of the six—J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, Charles D. Hilles of New York and ex-Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania.

The supposition is that Roraback will be able to dictate most of New England's votes at the convention, that Hilles will be able to dictate the Empire state's and that Reed will be able to dictate the Keystone commonwealth's. If they do not lose control over their respective sectional organizations they will constitute a formidable alliance at Cleveland. The three leaders can be counted on to stick together anyway.

Ohio G. O. P.

Former Postmaster General Walter F. Brown of Ohio should be named as a fourth ruler, provided he can make his subjects follow him. The Buckeye G. O. P. seems to be in a bad state of insurrection, however.

As a sixth ruler maybe Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa would be as good a bet as any. Or possibly Lyle E. Jackson of Nebraska.

Perhaps Mark L. Regua would think he ought to be included, as the Pacific coast's representative. John Hamilton of Kansas, who has retired from the post of general counsel of the Republican national committee, to manage Governor Alf M. Landon's campaign, is not yet in the ruling class, though he will be in the event of the governor's nomination, to say nothing of his election.

By virtue of his chairmanship of the Republican committee, Henry F. Fletcher ought, technically, to be entitled to a place in the ranks of the ruling sextet, but he doesn't signify; a Pennsylvanian, he is over-shadowed by ex-Senator Reed; in fact, is a mere office boy—except that he has lots of money.

Ruling Group

Roraback, Hilles and Reed, then, classify as distinctly in the G. O. P. ruling group. Parenthetically, it is anyone's guess how long they can stay there.

Brown belongs in it precariously.

—but neither is as dominant in his own field as are Roraback, Hilles and Reed in theirs.

And Regua, on the Pacific coast, naturally is secondary to ex-President Hoover, the G. O. P.'s titular leader for the present—but by no means to be described as one of its rulers.

In short, it is a rulership which is badly jumbled.

They're Disorganized

Say that Roraback, Hilles and Reed are a unit at Cleveland; that Brown is in sympathy with them but has an unmanageable delegation; that Creager, Spangler and Jackson have sectional interests to serve; that Regua is handicapped by his connection with Hoover.

Obviously the rulership is split. Roraback, Hilles and Reed never were pro-Hoover. They were flattered into accepting him at Kansas City in 1928. They prefer even Roosevelt to Borah now and they are not enthusiastic for Landon. They want some candidate who has not yet been suggested.

Spangler and Jackson are pro-Landon.

Creager is uncertain.

Brown simply is jittery.

Regua's candidate isn't a possibility.

The truth is, Republican leadership is worse disorganized now than Democratic leadership appeared to be just after Al Smith's defeat in 1928, and that seemed to be the limit.

CHAPTER 45

SELWYN MARSH attempted to frown when he became aware of Thora's speechless gaze at his changed appearance in dinner clothes. Instead, he smiled a trifle sheepishly.

"Well? Do I look as silly as I feel?"

"You... you look... nice." It was a stupid word to use, but Thora could find nothing better at the moment. "I hardly knew you," she added hastily.

"I don't wonder," he agreed amiably. "I hardly know myself. Wilma insisted on my getting into a very distinguished-looking, and handsome, gentleman. Thora Dahl contented herself by tipping her head critically to one side and remarking,

"All except your tie. It's crooked."

"I thought so. Can't do one of those bows to save my soul. Will you fix it?"

He stood with his chin raised while Thora patted and pulled the black bow into a perfect knot. It brought a sudden memory. How she had stood by this very window, looking into Selwyn Marsh's face as he removed that cinder from her eye. That was the first time she had seen him, and how long ago it seemed.

And his hands had been so steady. Her fingers were trembling a little.

"There." She stepped back and appraised her task. "That looks much better. I must go now. I will be late."

"You're not punching a time clock," he snapped. Besides, Pat is going to run you over in the car."

"Oh no, please. I'd rather walk. It isn't far."

"And I prefer not to have you cutting across lots and in anybody's back door. You'll drive around to the front. Go out on the porch and wait for Pat. I'll call him."

It was more than an hour later that Wilma entered the library and found her father relaxed in his chair, puffing thoughtfully on his pipe.

"Dad!" she exclaimed reproachfully. "You'll get your shirt crushed, sitting that way. And you have ashes on yourself. Stand up and let me dust you off."

He complied with a muttered protest.

"You're the handsomest thing I've seen in a long time." Wilma told him in a little burst of admiration, as she flicked his shirt bosom with her handkerchief. "You almost take my breath. Do you know that you don't look a day older than Sherman?"

"What do you want for that?"

"My bracelet, if you'll be good enough to dig it out. And the largest ring."

"Look here, Wilma. You're not going to wear that thing tonight, are you?"

"Of course I am. That's why I brought it out. I want to give your relatives an eyeful. Go on and get it, like a good boy."

"It's yours," Marsh admitted, "but I don't like the idea of your wearing it tonight. It's not that sort of an occasion and we don't have cops on every corner out here, either."

"How can I? If you and Alec and Pat can't guard me over there and back you're not much good. Let me have it."

"All right. Just head anybody off from coming in here for a minute. There's no use advertising where we keep it." He crossed to the fireplace and began fingering the molding of one of the wooden wall panels. In a moment, there was a dull clang and Marsh came back to the table with a small box in his hand.

"There you are," he remarked.

"Isn't it gorgeous?" Wilma asked, when she had slipped the blazing circlet over her slim hand and held it up for her father's admiration. "You don't know how I value it!" she began impulsively, then paused when he saw the grim expression on Selwyn's face.

"You should," he answered shortly. "After all it's 'Hello'."

Alec Babbas strolled into the room. He was dressed for dinner and smoking a cigarette thrust in an amber holder. Marsh looked at him critically. The bruise on the younger man's face was scarcely noticeable in the fading light. And he was not wearing the monocle, to his host's secret satisfaction.

"You look very fit," he observed.

"I'm all right," Babbas admitted.

"Look, Alec," Wilma interrupted. "How do you like it, when I'm dressed to match?"

"It's quite becoming."

"Dad was trying to make believe it wasn't safe for me to be going about with so much richness. I told him that you would protect me."

"I'll do my best. But I'm not sure that Mr. Marsh isn't right."

"You're both of you silly!" Wilma exclaimed with a pout.

Meanwhile, Thora was acquainting herself with her duty for the evening and following the fluttering Mrs. Steele about, from the kitchen to the dining room, back again.

"I do hope everything is all right!" the hostess sighed, making one more inspection of the faultless table. "It is a small party," she confided to Thora, "but it's one of those affairs where everything has to be just so."

"Yes?" her assistant murmured politely.

"I'll say so. The Gordons you know are rich. They're accustomed to the best. And they're very critical. Between you and me, my dear, Frances Gordon is sweet... and a cat."

Thora raised her brows a trifle at this intimate revelation. It didn't sound much like Mr. Gordon's description of his mother. But Mrs. Steele was hurrying on.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pryor are about as bad. Miss Pryor... she's his sister... is worse. They're cousins of Selwyn. George Pryor isn't nearly as well off as Selwyn and it hurts them. They're very quick to find fault. That is one reason I had Sherman come along. He's a peacemaker when that bunch gets together. I do hope I haven't made any mistake in seating."

As nearly as Thora could tell, the arrangements were perfect. Thanks to Mrs. Steele's painstaking preparations there would be very little for her to do, save keeping a check upon Jim's movements. That young man had been subjected to countless rehearsals and was standing by, clad in a stiffly starched linen jacket and owl-eyed with importance. Thora gave him a reassuring smile. Dusky Jim was all that stood between her and appearing before the dinner guests. If he should fail her!

The situation somehow appealed to her sense of humor. Her experience with formal dinners was very slight, and here she was now acting in a professional capacity. She was conscious of a sudden desire to see these people together, hear what they talked about. It was very evident that Selwyn Marsh was to have his seat at the head of the board. She would like to see him when he stood in his place and solemnly told these people that Wilma was engaged to marry Al Babba. As if everyone in the vicinity of Brookville didn't know it. A queer custom.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Chamber of Commerce, through a resolution, protested solicitation of advertising from merchants for programs and other such things.

Engagement of Miss Helen Schier to Franklin Kibler of Toledo was announced at a pretty party at Mrs. Joe Burns' home.

Hillsboro withdrew from the organization thus breaking up the Southcentral Ohio Athletic association.

15 YEARS AGO

A new musical organization, named the Circle City band, has been formed with Boyd Brown as leader, John Gill as instructor, Harry Myers as secretary, and Allen Hammell as treasurer.

Frances Boecher, a senior, Hazel Palm, a junior, Ione Watts and Bernice Buskirk, sophomores, and Juanita Barr, a freshman, lead the high school honor rolls.

E. Sensenbrenner is planning to present Hardy Williamson and the Temple Sisters Trio in concert at Memorial Hall. All are Edison artists.

Great Have Unusual Bits Because of Genius

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

PEOPLE WHO DO unusual things in the world are usually unusual. They have one part of their nature developed at the expense of the rest, and that part of the nature allows them to do acts of genius. With this goes the compensatory quality of doing queer things. The ordinary person hears of their goings-on and says, "Well, you will never catch me doing that," which is quite true. You will never catch him doing the great things that genius does, either.

The rules of life which we order for our average selves must be relaxed for the creative genius, but before you demand a relaxation of the social code for yourself, you should be sure you are a great creative genius.

People are always saying, "I would certainly like to meet and know." Take it from one who has had some experience in that line, that most of the great of the world are so queer that they are not good ordinary company.

It is not unnatural with their restless, eager minds, which utterly forbid them from doing anything in the routine way, and which always need new ideas and new sensations, that they should stimulate them by the use of drugs of one kind or another.

Thomas de Quincey is an outstanding example of a man of letters who was addicted to opium. He was, in fact, rather proud of his habit, and praised the use of the drug in his book, "The Confessions of an English Opium Eater." De Quincey began the use of opium when he was 19, for the relief of neuralgia; the neuralgia was in his stomach and, to our modern eyes, seems to have been really ulcer of the stomach—"periodic or seasonal ulceration of the stomach," his biographer calls it, and all doctors and all patients will recognize the seasonal variation of the disease.

He was not a regular addict, however, because he usually waited until Saturday night to go on a debauch. He probably never took opium regularly during any time in his life. Neither the ulcer of the stomach nor the habit seems to have harmed him because he lived to be 75 years old.

Poe is one of the men who comes to mind most readily when alcoholism is mentioned in connection with literary genius. Poe was a typical alcoholic because his mind was so restless. As long as he could work at a story, or a poem, or a mathematical problem, or a puzzle, he was sober and contented, but when none of these things was present he went on a spree.

There were many others like him in the world of letters. Verlaine, the most exquisite of modern French poets, was a chronic absinthe habitue and died of absinthe poisoning. Shakespeare is reported to have died as the result of a debauch when his old friends from London, including Ben Jonson, came down to Stratford and got him drunk.

Poems That Live

TIME LONG PAST

Like the ghost of a dear friend dead
Is Time long past.
A tone which is now forever fled,
A hope which is now forever past.
A love so sweet it could not last,
Was Time long past.

There were sweet dreams in the night
Of Time long past:
And, was it sadness or delight
Each day a shadow onward cast
Which made us wish it yet might last—
That Time long past.

There is regret, almost remorse,
For Time long past.
'Tis like a child's beloved corpse
A father watches, till at last
Beauty is like remembrance, cast
From Time long past.

—Percy Bysshe Shelley

RESIGNATION

Why, why repine, my pensive friend,
At pleasures slipped away?
Some the stern Fates will never lend,
And all refuse to stay.

I see the rainbow in the sky,
The dew upon the grass;
I see them, and I ask not why
They glimmer or they pass.

With folded arms I linger not
To call them back; 'twere vain:
In this, or in some other spot,
I know they'll shine again.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. A. SHEPARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

FROM THE RIVIERA

WHILE STOPPING at a villa near Spezia, Mr. John D. Gorman was dealt the East hand, and pushed by an inconsiderate partner into a small slam contract in diamonds. The opening lead by the doubler was the K of hearts. See how many tricks can be made against subsequent perfect defense.

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, 1-Spade; North, 3-Clubs; East, 5-Diamonds; West, 5-Spades, which was a most atrocious call, loaded as he was with 6 adversely bid hearts and void of partner's suit; East, 6-Diamonds, doubled by South and fortunately left alone by West.

When dummy went down after the opening lead of the K of hearts, East writes that he felt stunned at what was spread. Of course dummy and North followed suit and declarer ruffed.

Declarer was so upset by West's bidding that he scarcely noticed what he let go from dummy on the next five tricks. He did note, however, that South followed only once in trumps, then he let go two hearts and two clubs, while North let go a heart and a spade, after following to diamonds three times. From there on Mr. Gorman states that he paid strict attention to business. He even managed a smile in his depressed partner's direction, "Just to clear the atmosphere."

There was nothing to do except lead trumps, hoping to squeeze South. North he could do nothing with. Evidently South realized what was coming, as shown by his careful scrutiny of dummy and his thoughtful discarding. On the next three tricks, in regular order, South discarded the 7 of clubs, the 2 of spades and the Q of hearts, evidently baring down to his Ace of the last suit. Dummy let go a heart, a spade, then the guard to the 10 of hearts, when South let go the Q. North had let go all side cards, then he had to discard three clubs. At the end of the ninth trick the players held the cards shown in the diagram.

The 8 of spades was led. When South played the 3, dummy's 10 won the trick. South was put in the lead with the Ace of hearts, so that he led the K-J of spades, up to dummy's Ace and Q, just giving East his small

51 Business Women and Guests Attend Dinner

Dr. Young Is Speaker
At Annual Affair
In Club Room

In celebration of National Business Women's Week, members of the Circleville Business and Professional Women's club had as their guests at a dinner in the club rooms Thursday evening members of the Board of Education and the faculty of the high school, and T. E. Wilson, publisher of The Circleville Herald.

These annual Public Relation dinners of the club are always interesting and outstanding meetings.

Fifty-one club members and guests were seated at the long tables arranged in the club room. Decorations of green and white, featuring bowls of pussy-willows and lighted green candles, made an attractive picture.

Miss Charlotte Phelps, club

president, presided at the speakers' table, at which were seated Dr. William Young of the Department of Education, Capital University, Columbus, the guest speaker; Mr. Wilson, Miss Charlotte McEwing, Public Relations chairman; Miss Clara Southward, and Miss Rains and Miss Watson, club members of the high school faculty.

Preceding the dinner, Miss Phelps welcomed the guests and Miss Clara Southward read the club Collect. Following the dinner, Miss Phelps spoke of the national observance of this special week, by the federated organizations, and the pleasure which the local club gained from its annual extension of hospitality to other civic groups. She then introduced the Public Relations chairman, who had charge of the program.

Miss McEwing preceding her announcements with a clever speech, asked the music chairman, Miss Anna Schleyer, to announce the musical numbers on her program.

Miss Betty Scothorn, accompanied by Miss Schleyer, played two violin solos, "Gavotte" by Popper and "From the Canebrake" by Gardner, in a charming manner.

While regretting the illness which prevented the presence of Dean Eich of Capital University, who had been announced as the speaker of the evening, the chairman expressed the appreciation of the club for the courtesy and consideration with which Dr. Young had consented to act as her substitute.

Dr. Young, as pinch-hitter for Dean Eich, as he expressed it, was an interesting and entertaining speaker, with thoughtful and serious comments on the problems of today, especially in relation to youth. From his years spent in the career of teaching, a full understanding of young people and an open mind toward the questions of present, Dr. Young gave much food for thought to his listeners.

Troy Belden, accompanied by Miss Schleyer, sang three beautiful numbers, "To Scenes of Peace Retiring" by Mozart, "Love Immeasurable" by Erskine, and "Dedication" by Franz.

The program closed with piano duets by Mrs. Ervin Leist and Miss Schleyer. Their numbers were "Polonaise" by Spross and "At the Domybrook Fair" by Scott.

Four high school seniors, Misses Jean Moffitt, Jane Drum, Thelma Piper, and Lucile McClure, acted as assisting hostesses to the club members.

Miss Oliver Johnson, well-known caterer, and her assistants, served the dinner.

Three Political Talks On Schedule March 24

Knox, Douglas, and Richberg to Speak on Government Views; Ruggles to Head Al Jolson's Show

Colonel Frank Knox, Republican presidential candidate, Lewis W. Douglas, Democrat and former Federal budget director, and Donald R. Richberg, former NRA Administrator, will address listeners of the nation on government problems Tuesday, March 24, over wide NBC networks.

Knox and Douglas, speaking to members of the Economic Club at their meeting in the Hotel Astor, New York City, will be heard from 10:00 to 10:30 p. m., EST, over an NBC-WJZ network. James P. Warburg, banker and economist, who is to preside over the meeting, will also address listeners during the half hour discussion of government policies and the nation's future.

Richberg, now a prominent New York attorney, will discuss the Constitution and the New Deal earlier in the evening in the address to be broadcast over an NBC-WEAF network from 7:45 to 8:00 p. m., EST. The talk, one of NBC's "You and Your Government" series, will open with an introduction of Richberg by Dr. Thomas H. Reed, Chairman of the Committee on Civic Education by Radio.

Knox, during his address to the club headed by Warburg, will be interrogated by Douglas on specific phases of his talk.

Ruggles Guest of Jolson

Charlie Ruggles, one of Hollywood's most popular light comedy stars, will help Al Jolson lighten up the radio evening on Saturday, March 21, when he heads the guest star bill which Jolson will present in the Chateau broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 9:30 p. m. On the same bill with Ruggles will appear Alyce King and her three sisters, a blues-singing quartet; and Joe Lewis, the humorous, not the fistic expert.

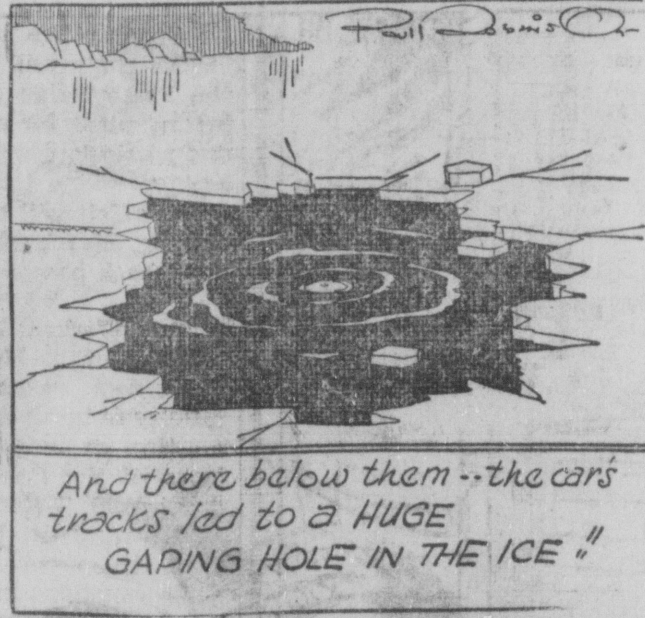

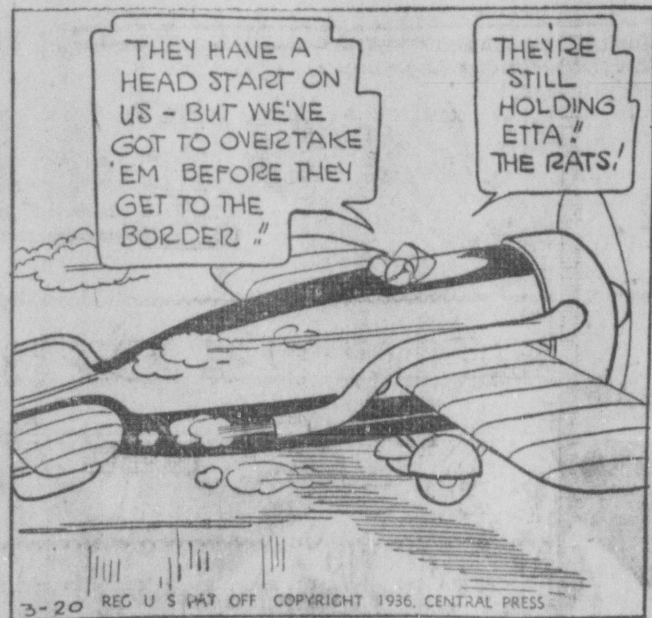

Providing music for the guest acts, Jolson's songs, and a number of popular dance hits besides will be Victor Young's orchestra. Young has been directing the music in Shell Chateau ever since it first came to the airwaves almost a year ago and he will continue to supply the music for the programs after Jolson leaves the Chateau for a vacation following the March 28 broadcast. Smith Ballou, the new master of ceremonies, although he is a band leader, will not bring his orchestra to the program.

Ruggles has starred in numerous Hollywood productions and before that on the New York stage. He will play the lead in a comedy dramatic sketch in his Shell Chateau engagement.

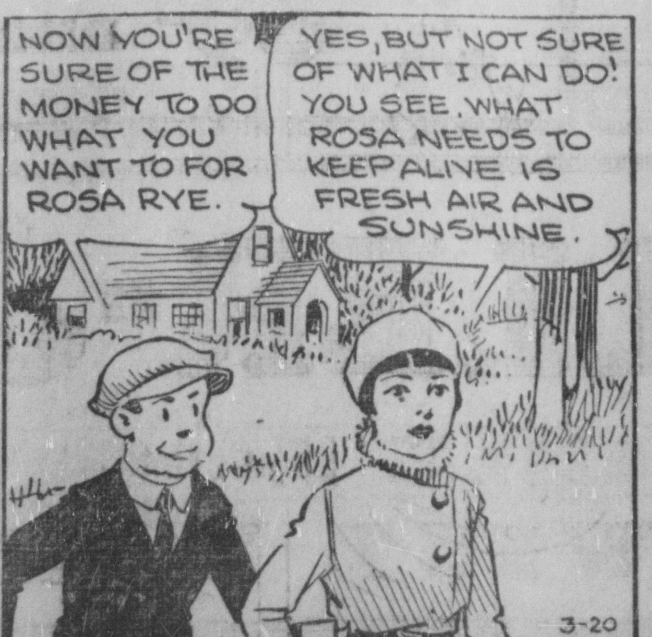

Alyce King and her sisters have just arrived in Hollywood from Chicago where they were started at a night club. For four years they were featured with Horace Heidt's orchestra. They are now

FOUR QUINTETS ARE SUPPORTED FOR OHIO CROWN

Akron, Bridgeport, Marietta, Canton Look Strong in Opening Round

COLUMBUS, March 20—(UP)—Without a favorite 24 hours ago, the annual state high school four ranking choices in Class A as the meet went into its quarter-final round.

From a list that included Akron South, Marietta and Canton McKinley, Bridgeport, Marietta and Canton McKinley tournament experts believed the 1936 schoolboy court ruler would emerge.

South and Bridgeport are in the upper bracket, with Marietta and McKinley in the lower half of the draw.

Newark Dangerous

South meets a team that has proved a dangerous tournament foe in Newark today. Bridgeport engages Bowling Green, Marietta plays Toledo Woodward and Canton McKinley opposes Findlay.

In Class B, an outstanding team to succeed the Waterloo Wonders did not appear in the opening round.

Waynesville, the little Warren-co school that had been a popular choice, as Waterloo's successor, was upset by Granville.

Far and away the outstanding contest of the first day was the battle between Marietta and Akron Buchtel.

Playing the type of ball one would expect of a championship possibility, Marietta showed genuine titular traits as it turned back a strong Buchtel team 35 to 30.

Canton McKinley experienced little trouble with Dayton Roosevelt, the 1934 scholastic champion. McKinley took a 14 to 4 lead at the first quarter and coasted to an easy 40 to 24 victory.

Toledo Woodward failed to impress as it gained a 40 to 27 triumph over a weak Carrollton team. Woodward was behind 10 to 5 at the first quarter, but pulled into a 17 to 16 lead at the half and then went on to a rather easy win.

In the final game of the night program, Findlay took a 24 to 23 overtime game from Elyria. After the score was tied 5 all at the end of the first quarter, Elyria fell behind 15 to 6 at the half and was in the rear 17 to 12 after three quarters.

In the afternoon Class A games, Newark nosed out Cincinnati Elder 25 to 24 in the final minute of play; Akron South downed Ashland 35 to 24; Bowling Green took a listless game from Miamisburg 33 to 24 and Bridgeport defeated Cleveland Holy Name 43 to 35.

In addition to Waynesville's defeat by Granville, one other upset marked the Class B games. Dennison, victor over Amsterdam in the finals of the Eastern Ohio play-off, was beaten 27 to 22 by South Amherst.

In other first round games, Amsterdam defeated Canal Fulton 35 to 31; Eaton won from Rawson 39 to 25; Sandusky St. Marys bested Lucasville 35 to 29; Millersport turned back Point Place 33 to 26; Leesburg advanced at the expense of Lowellville 34 to 23 and Ross Township eliminated Celina Public 31 to 29.

About This And That In Many Sports

Eight Cagers Honored

Eight basketball letters were awarded at the high school during an assembly program Friday afternoon — Letters went to John Jenkins, chosen honorary captain by his teammates; Charles Sayers, Cecil Andrews, Dick Melson, Dick Plum, John Griffith, Willard Friley, and Don Henry — They were presented by Coach Jack Landrum ***

Others Given Letters

Others receiving awards were John Noggle, manager, and Dorothy Beatty and Marvane Wallace, cheerleaders — A dozen eighth graders, several of whom are varsity material next year, were honored at the assembly with small letters ***

To Attend Meeting

Coach Landrum and Principal Elmer Reger plan to attend a Central Buckeye league meeting at the Neil House Saturday — Track schedules and next fall's football plans will be discussed — Election of officers is scheduled.

New Holland to Feed

New Holland is planning to fete its basketball teams next Monday evening — Real honor should be paid Everett Landman, big Bulldog center, who is nearly through a splendid athletic career — If memory serves correctly Landman made the all-county center position four straight years — Krogger Babb, tourney referee, will be in the crowd ***

GIANTS IN TRACK MEET AS VOL STAFF CRACKS

DEFUNIAK SPRINGS, Fla., March 20—(UP)—Five walks, two hit batsmen, five hits and a couple of errors allowed the New York Giants to score 11 runs in the fifth inning of yesterday's 19 to 7 swamping of the Nashville Vols.

Al Smith pitched the first four innings for the Giants and was followed by Dick Coffman.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Jacobs Predicts Record Gate For June Contest

New York Promotor to Put Schmeling and Louis in Same Fight Ring in Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, March 20—(UP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted today that the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight bout will gross more than $1,000,000, making it the first fistic attraction in history to hit that figure without Jack Dempsey. The match will be held either June 17 or 24 at Yankee stadium, New York.

Jacobs narrowly missed a $1,000,000 gate with the Louis-Baer bout last September. The gross was $948,352, but including motion picture and radio revenue. It went over the million mark.

"This time the gate itself will go better than a $1,000,000," Jacobs said.

Ringside tickets for the Louis-Baer bout were $25, and the same figure may prevail for the Louis-Schmeling bout. Jacobs indicated that he would rather have more people at a lower scale than a small crowd at high prices.

Alterations recently made at Yankee stadium will increase the fight seating capacity to slightly more than 100,000. The largest paid attendance previously for a bout in New York was $5,000, at the Dempsey-Firpo bout at the Polo Grounds. With the new seating arrangement at Yankee stadium, Jacobs feels sure he will establish a new outdoor record for New York.

While Mike Jacobs is content to let his prediction on the gate rest at $1,000,000, Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, believes it will reach $1,500,000.

Schmeling will sail on the Bremen April 15, arriving here April 21. He will go to French Lick Springs, Ind., for three weeks of preliminary work.

Louis will open light training at Lafayetteville, N. Y., 15 miles from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate, on April 1.

Among the Mayas of ancient Yucatan, young men were permitted to drink intoxicating beverages only in religious ceremonies.

Both these players come to the Grand theatre on Friday as co-stars in "The Invisible Ray," the thrilling Universal drama of a man who drew power from the Heavens in his world-shaking invention, "Radium X," and wielded his power for good and for evil. Frances Drake and Frank Lawton support the stars.

Choice examples of Harold Lloyd's pictures will be preserved for posterity, due to the foresight of the Rockefeller Foundation, which ranks this comedian among the world's leading screen artists.

Representatives of the Foundation travelled to Hollywood to persuade Lloyd to give them either negatives or prints of pictures he made during early years of his career, as well as his current one.

SCHOOL BOARDS INSTRUCTED CONCERNING OHIO BONDS

NEED NOT SELL UNTIL YEAR END, SUTTON REPORTS

Clerks Seeking Information; Director Bowsher Discusses Interest Rate

Communications from Dr. D. H. Sutton, director of school finance, and E. L. Bowsher, state director of education, were sent to county school boards Thursday by George D. McDowell, county superintendent, to clear up questions received from clerks on notes recently received in the first distribution of funds under the foundation program.

Several clerks asked whether a board of education with a substantial balance in the general fund needed to sell the note at once. First information received was that the note should be sold immediately.

Notes Explained

The communication from Dr. Sutton, dealing with the sale of the notes follows:

"If a board of education has a cash balance and does not need to issue the notes under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, it is not necessary that the board issue the notes immediately. We advise, however, to have the notes issued prior to the end of the calendar year 1936, in order that we may allocate money for the retirement of them.

The law provides that we can distribute money only for the retirement of notes issued. Consequently if a board of education had not issued the notes, we question whether we would have the legal authority to issue funds for the retirement of a note that was never issued."

This communication from Dr. Sutton was accompanied by the following letter from Mr. Bowsher concerning interest rates on the certificates.

"At the time we mailed you the recent quarterly payments from the State Public School Fund, together with the certifications for borrowing under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, we assumed that this law would be available to each of the County Prosecuting Attorneys. It appears, however, that the provisions of this legislative act are not available and for this reason we are writing you with reference to the interest rates at which the notes authorized under this bill may be sold. Section 4 of House Bill No. 635 states as follows:

"Such notes shall be payable on or before February first, nineteen thirty-seven, and shall bear interest from their date at a rate not exceeding 4 per cent per annum, interest to be payable when notes are paid, shall be signed by the president and clerk of the board of education, and shall recite on their face that they are issued pursuant to this act and the resolution authorizing the same."

Some Exceed Rates

"We note that some districts in the State have sold their notes at an interest rate exceeding that provided by law. Since the statutes fix 4 per cent as a maximum rate, each board of education having negotiated a loan at an interest rate in excess of 4 per cent should immediately make provision to have their loan and interest rate conform to statutes.

"It would appear that under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, it will be necessary for each board of education authorized to issue notes to follow this procedure in

Most important of all, Chevrolet's more efficient cooling system, pressure stream oiling and the greater accessibility of all working parts result in more dependable operation, over a longer period of time, with the lowest maintenance costs. Thus, Chevrolet's valve-in-head engine—only one of its kind in Chevrolet's price range—gives economy without equal.

Floods in Valley Earned Against Disease Dangers

The flood slowly until to the crest and then recede as the flood crest moved on down the valley to create new devastation.

Families in Schools

Mayor Morton J. Harper took measures to prevent looting in public places. The sale or consumption of intoxicants was prohibited. In the sections of the city dry, the refugees were huddled in schools and public buildings. Eighty families were quarantined in the schools alone.

Part of the residential section of Parkersburg, W. Va., 12 miles below here, was under water and the residents had been taken out. Point Pleasant, W. V., also was flooded.

Down the river towns and cities, knowing their turn was to come, made efficient preparations. Huntington, W. V., the first sizeable community, is 100 miles to the southwest. Fifty miles northwest of Huntington is Portsmouth, O., and 50 miles in a general westerly direction is Cincinnati.

70 Blocks Covered

Marietta estimated that its flood damage might reach $1,500,000. Seventy blocks of the city were under from four to 10 feet of water.

At Huntington, it was estimated the damage would be no greater than $100,000. One thousand families left their homes as the water began to spill into the western side of the city. A crest of 57 feet was expected at Huntington by Sunday. Residents were warned to stay in food enough to last at least 40 days.

Huntington merchants did a big business in candles and oil lamps when it was feared that the city's electric service might be impaired. Portsmouth, O., watched anxiously as the river rose slowly to a crest of 55 to 60 feet. Portsmouth's great flood wall will repel the river up to 61 feet. After that, the city faces devastation.

Between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, WPA workers in smaller cities and towns spent the night reinforcing flood bulwarks. The height of the flood was not expected to strike this region for 24 to 48 hours.

The town of Gallipolis, which has been cut off from vehicular traffic, reported enough food to last through the emergency.

Norfolk & Western railroad service was continuing without delay Friday despite the high water in the river district.

Several Pennsylvania passenger trains were routed over the N. & W. tracks Thursday and more were expected Friday. The Chesapeake & Ohio route also carried trains other than its own.

WPA WORKERS ASSIGNED TO VARIOUS CITY JOBS

A crew of WPA workers were assigned to a sanitary sewer extension project on S. Pickaway-st. Thursday, to dig trenches and prepare for installation of cast iron pipes under the railroad property. Installation of the pipes will be handled by railroad employees.

The sanitary sewer will be run from Edison-ave, north, to connect with a sewer near the intersection of Pickaway and Ohio-sts. Workers were busy on the Court-st project Thursday afternoon cleaning up bricks and clearing the street to resume paving Friday.

Twenty men were assigned to the Canal development to make repairs on the project caused by the recent flood waters.

POSES AS MAN 20 YEARS

KEKAWAKA, Cal.—Falling heiress to an estate in Indiana proved too much for Miss Malvina Plotner, of Trinity County. She changed clothes and admitted she had posed as a man for 20 years, during which she served two years as deputy sheriff.

VOICE ...of the... PEOPLE

To the Editor, Circleville Herald.

I have been asked by the Board of Directors of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children to bring to your attention and to the attention of the public the campaign which is now being carried on for the sale of Crippled Children's Seals. These seals, similar in purpose to the Christmas Seals which are sold for the benefit of victims of tuberculosis, are adapted from a design used in a cartoon by the well-known cartoonist Donahay of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The seal depicts a crippled boy with his crutch sitting on the threshold of the door of opportunity. The Crippled Children's Seal Sale affords a means of financing the state-wide work of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children; gives opportunity for Ohio to share in the maintenance of the International Society for Crippled Children; and gives the local community funds for supplementary services to Crippled Children.

The public should be acquainted with the fine work which has been done by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and in Circleville by the Ohio Society in co-operation with the Rotary Club. This public service organization aims to help the Crippled Children of every county in the state by securing funds for correctional surgery and treatments, by maintaining clinics for diagnosis and care, by providing school authorities with proper educational instruments for the vocational training of children handicapped by physical disabilities, by cooperating with the state department and the administration of the Federal Social Security Program as it applies to the Crippled Children in Ohio.

The Crippled Children's Seals will be on sale only during the Easter season, from the present to April 15. They will be obtainable in Circleville stores and from solicitors.

The cooperation of The Herald in this most worth-while public enterprise will inform the people of this city and county on the nature and scope of the work being done by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children—a work with which every public-spirited citizen will want to be identified.

Respectfully yours

LUTHERAN MEN GATHER AGAIN

Program By Members Over 50 Years Enjoyed

A rousing meeting of Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood held last evening is now history.

During the half hour social session, C. W. Helvering and his committee of seven members served chili soup, weiner sandwiches, pickles and coffee.

President Luther Bower then introduced E. Sensenbrenner as master of ceremonies. The entire program was put on by the members over fifty years of age, opening with the singing of "Nellie Gray" with Carl F. Seitz at the piano.

J. D. Hummel next on the program, recited "Society Cadacut's Cat."

Charles L. Mack gave an informative paper on "The Lenten Season" after which R. D. Good gave a poem entitled "Are You an Active Member?"

A German quintet composed of Dr. G. J. Troutman, E. Sensenbrenner, Edward H. Blum, J. H. Helwagen and Frank H. Palm then again at the piano.

Next Dr. Troutman was introduced and gave an interesting talk on St. Petersburg, Fla., at which place he spent two months of the last winter.

E. E. Wolf read "Personal Impressions."

Tall Tales

WILLIAM H. NILES had a real experience during the last winter while hunting coon.

A dog barked up a large tree that stood about five miles from the nearest stream. On climbing the tree, Mr. Niles discovered the den in a large limb. Telling his own story: "I broke off a branch and probed around in the hole and I finally withdrew a coon hair. I obtained an ax and saw and cut down the tree. When I cut into the den I discovered an 8-pound catfish. No doubt the fish took to the timber during the recent winter."

TALL ONES

Do you know any tall stories? If you do please pass them on that someone else may enjoy a laugh.

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN

Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.

Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cathartics, it did not lose its effect.

Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.

ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and cathartics.

Serve as a cereal—put two in cooking. Eat it all about.

51 Business Women and Guests Attend Dinner

Dr. Young Is Speaker
At Annual Affair
In Club Room

In celebration of National Business Women's Week, members of the Circleville Business and Professional Women's club had as their guests at a dinner in the club room Thursday evening members of the Board of Education and the faculty of the high school, and T. E. Wilson, publisher of The Circleville Herald. These annual Public Relations dinners of the club are always interesting and outstanding meetings. Fifty-one club members and guests were seated at the long tables arranged in the club room. Decorations of green and white, featuring bowls of pussy-willows and lighted green candles, made an attractive picture. Miss Charlotte Phelps, club president, presided at the speakers' table, at which were seated Dr. William Young of the Department of Education, Capital University, Columbus, the guest speaker; Mr. Wilson, Miss Charlotte McEwing, Public Relations chairman; Miss Clara Southward, and Miss Rains and Miss Watson, club members of the high school faculty.

Following the dinner, Miss Phelps welcomed the guests and Miss Clara Southward read the club Collect. Following the dinner, Miss Phelps spoke of the national observance of this special week, by the federated organizations, and the pleasure which the local club gained from its annual extension of hospitality to other civic groups. She then introduced the Public Relations chairman, who had charge of the program.

Miss McEwing preceding her announcements with a clever speech, asked the music chairman, Miss Anna Schleyer, to announce the musical numbers on her program.

Miss Betty Scothorn, accompanied by Miss Schleyer, played two violin solos, "Gavotte" by Popper and "From the Canebrake" by Gardner, in a charming manner.

While regretting the illness which prevented the presence of Dean Eich of Capital University, who had been announced as the speaker of the evening, the chairman expressed the appreciation of the club for the courtesy and consideration with which Dr. Young had consented to act as her substitute.

Dr. Young, as pinch-hitter for Dean Eich, as he expressed it, was an interesting and entertaining speaker, with thoughtful and serious comments on the problems of today, especially in relation to youth. From his years spent in the career of teaching, a full understanding of young people and an open mind toward the questions of present, Dr. Young gave much food for thought to his listeners.

Troy Belden, accompanied by Miss Schleyer, sang three beautiful numbers, "To Scenes of Peace Retiring" by Mozart, "Love Immeasurable" by Erskine, and "Dedication" by Franz.

The program closed with piano duets by Mrs. Ervin Leist and Miss Schleyer. Their numbers were "Polonaise" by Spross and "At the Donnybrook Fair" by Scott.

Four high school seniors, Misses Jean Moffitt, Jane Drum, Thelma Piper, and Lucile McClure, acted as assisting hostesses to the club members. Miss Oliver Johnson, well-known caterer, and her assistants, served the dinner.

Al Jolson

Al Jolson, one of Hollywood's most popular light comedy stars, will help Al Jolson lighten the radio evening on Saturday, March 24, when he heads the radio show which Jolson will present at the Chateau broadcast over the WEAF-NBC network at 8:30 p.m. On the same bill with Jolson will appear Alyce King and her three sisters, a blues-singing quartet; and Joe Lewis, the humorist, not the fistic expert.

South and Bridgeport are in the upper bracket, with Marietta and McKinley in the lower half of the draw.

Newark Dangerous

South meets a team that has proved a dangerous tournament foe in Newark today. Bridgeport engages Bowling Green, Marietta plays Toledo Woodward and Canton McKinley opposes Findlay.

In Class B, an outstanding team to succeed the Waterloo Wonders did not appear in the opening round.

Waynesville, the little Warren-co school that had been a popular choice, as Waterloo's successor, was upset by Granville.

Far and away the outstanding contest of the first day was the battle between Marietta and Akron Buchtel.

Playing the type of ball one would expect of a championship possibility, Marietta showed genuine titular traits as it turned back a strong Buchtel team 35 to 30.

Canton McKinley experienced little trouble with Dayton Roosevelt, the 1934 scholastic champion. McKinley took a 14 to 4 lead at the first quarter and coasted to an easy 40 to 24 victory.

Toledo Woodward failed to impress as it gained a 40 to 27 triumph over a weak Carrollton team. Woodward was behind 10 to 5 at the first quarter, but pulled into a 17 to 16 lead at the half and then went on to a rather easy win.

In the final game of the night program, Findlay took a 24 to 23 overtime game from Elyria. After the score was tied 5 all at the end of the first quarter, Elyria fell behind 15 to 6 at the half and was in the rear 17 to 12 after three quarters.

In the afternoon Class A games, Newark nosed out Cincinnati Elder 25 to 24 in the final minute of play; Akron South downed Ashland 35 to 24; Bowling Green took a listless game from Miamisburg 33 to 24 and Bridgeport defeated Cleveland Holy Name 43 to 35.

In addition to Waynesville's defeat by Granville, one other upset marked the Class B games. Dennison, victor over Amsterdam in the finals of the Eastern Ohio play-off, was beaten 27 to 22 by South Amherst.

In other first round games, Amsterdam defeated Canal Fulton 35 to 31; Eaton won from Rawson 39 to 25; Sandusky St. Marys bested Lucasville 35 to 29; Millersport turned back Point Place 33 to 26; Leesburg advanced at the expense of Lowellville 34 to 23 and Ross Township eliminated Celina Public 31 to 29.

About This And That In Many Sports

Eight Cagers Honored

Eight basketball letters were awarded at the high school during an assembly program Friday afternoon. Letters went to John Jenkins, chosen honorary captain by his teammates; Charles Sayers, Cecil Andrews, Dick Nelson, Dick Plum, John Griffith, Willard Friley, and Don Henry. They were presented by Coach Jack Landrum.

Others Given Letters

Others receiving awards were John Noggle, manager, and Dorothy Beatty and Marvane Wallace, cheerleaders. A dozen eighth graders, several of whom are varsity material next year, were honored at the assembly with small letters.

To Attend Meeting

Coach Landrum and Principal Elmer Reger plan to attend a Central Buckeye league meeting at the Neil House Saturday. Track schedules and next fall's football plans will be discussed. Election of officers is scheduled.

New Holland to Feed

New Holland is planning to fete its basketball teams next Monday evening. Real honor should be paid Everett Landman, big Bulldog center, who is nearly through a splendid athletic career. If memory serves correctly Landman made the all-county center position four straight years. Kroger Babb, tourney referee, will be in the crowd.

GIANTS IN TRACK MEET AS VOL STAFF CRACKS

Al Smith pitched the first four innings for the Giants and was followed by Dick Coffman.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Jacobs Predicts Record Gate For June Contest

New York Promotor to Put Schmeling and Louis in Same Fight Ring in Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, March 20—(UP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted today that the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight bout will gross more than $1,000,000, making it the first fight attraction in history to hit that figure without Jack Dempsey. The match will be held either June 17 or 24 at Yankee stadium, New York.

Jacobs narrowly missed a $1,000,000 gate with the Louis-Ber bout last September. The gross was $948,352, but including nation picture and radio revenue. It went over the million mark.

"This time the gate itself will go better than a $1,000,000," Jacobs said.

Ringside tickets for the Louis-Ber bout were $25, and the same figure may prevail for the Louis-Schmeling bout. Jacobs indicated that he would rather have more people at a lower scale than a small crowd at high prices.

Alterations recently made at Yankee stadium will increase the fight seating capacity to slightly more than 100,000. The largest paid attendance previously for a bout in New York was $5,000, at the Dempsey-Firpo bout at the Polo Grounds. With the new seating arrangement at Yankee stadium, Jacobs feels sure he will establish a new outdoor record for New York.

While Mike Jacobs is content to let his prediction on the gate rest at $1,000,000, Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, believes it will reach $1,500,000.

Schmeling will sail on the Bremen April 15, arriving here April 21. He will go to French Lick Springs, Ind., for three weeks of preliminary work.

Louis will open light training at Lafayetteville, N. Y., 15 miles from President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate, on April 1.

More than any other screen stars Karloff and Bela Lugosi are so indelibly associated with certain characters that Karloff has been nicknamed "Frankenstein" and Lugosi "Dracula." Both these players come to the Grand theatre on Friday as co-stars in "The Invisible Ray," the thrilling Universal drama of a man who drew power from the Heavens in his world-shaking invention, "Radium X," and wielded his power for good and for evil. Frances Drake and Frank Lawton support the stars.

NOT TO BE SOLD UNTIL YEAR END, DIRECTOR REPORTS

Director Seeking Information; Discusses Interest Rate

Communications from Dr. D. H. Hutton, director of school finance, and E. L. Bowsher, state director of education, were sent to county school boards Thursday by George D. McDowell, county superintendent, to clear up questions received from clerks on notes recently received in the first distribution of funds under the foundation program.

Several clerks asked whether a board of education with a substantial balance in the general fund should sell the note at once. The information received was that the note should be sold immediately.

Notes Explained

The communication from Dr. Hutton, dealing with the sale of the notes follows:

"If a board of education has a cash balance and does not need to issue the notes under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, it is not necessary that the board issue the notes immediately. We advise, however, to have the notes issued prior to the end of the calendar year 1936, in order that we may allocate money for the retirement of them.

The law provides that we can distribute money only for the retirement of notes issued. Consequently if a board of education had not issued the notes, we question whether we would have the legal authority to issue funds for the retirement of a note that was never issued."

This communication from Dr. Hutton was accompanied by the following letter from Mr. Bowsher concerning interest rates on the certificates.

"At the time we mailed you the recent quarterly payments from the State Public School Fund, together with the certificates for borrowing under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, we assumed that this law would be available to each of the County Prosecuting Attorneys. It appears, however, that the provisions of this legislative act are not available and for this reason we are writing you with reference to the interest rates at which the notes authorized under this bill may be sold. Section 4 of House Bill No. 635 states as follows:

"Such notes shall be payable on or before February first, nineteen thirty-seven, and shall bear interest from their date at a rate not exceeding four per cent per annum, interest to be payable when notes are paid, shall be signed by the president and clerk of the board of education, and shall recite on their face that they are issued pursuant to this act and the resolution authorizing the same."

Some Exceed Rates

"We note that some districts in the State have sold their notes at an interest rate exceeding that provided by law. Since the statutes fix 4 per cent as a maximum rate, each board of education having negotiated a loan at an interest rate in excess of 4 per cent should immediately make provision to have their loan and interest rate conform to statutes.

"It would appear that under the provisions of House Bill No. 635, it will be necessary for each board of education authorized to issue notes to follow this procedure in
